

Summer! Yup, here on the Shoreline we wait all year long for these few short weeks. And then we fill up our calendar with outdoor music, festivals, and farmers markets. I'm a New England girl and wouldn't give up a season (though this winter was a challenge). But that "school's out" feeling returns every June and I cram as much outdoor fun as possible into the longer, lazy days of summer. We've compiled lists of the best of summer here, and you can always find them on our website, too.

p.s. Please share the love and forward to your friends and family (or share on your favorite social media channels) by clicking the links at the bottom of this page. We so appreciate it!

Summer Music

Is there anything better than an outdoor concert on a balmy summer eve? We don't think so. And we've made it easy for you to plan ahead with our list of live music. Catch Blues Traveler in the vineyard, or Jazz on the Green, and so much more...
