

Normally we would be rounding up all the fun things to do on Memorial Day Weekend, the traditional kick-off to summer on the Shoreline. Truthfully, it snuck up on me this year, as I've barely glanced at my calendar. I will make a big batch of my family's favorite baked beans (recipe below) and probably head over to Liv's Shack for the quintessential eats of summer, an overstuffed hot, buttered lobster roll (don't skip the truffle fries). I'm hoping for plenty of Vitamin D (find an interesting article on Vitamin D and Covid below), and a family ping pong tournament. We'll make the best of it, and hope you do, too.

Productivity Tips for Working From Home

I've been working full time from home since I arrived in Connecticut eighteen years ago, and I think I've got it down. I keep to a rather strict schedule, which isn't for everybody. But for those who need a routine, here are my tips...

Bandanas!

Weirdly, this is the accessory of the season, and we've rounded up our favorites. Stick with cotton and a 19 to 20" square works best.

Take Out & Delivery Made Easy with Shoreline Menus

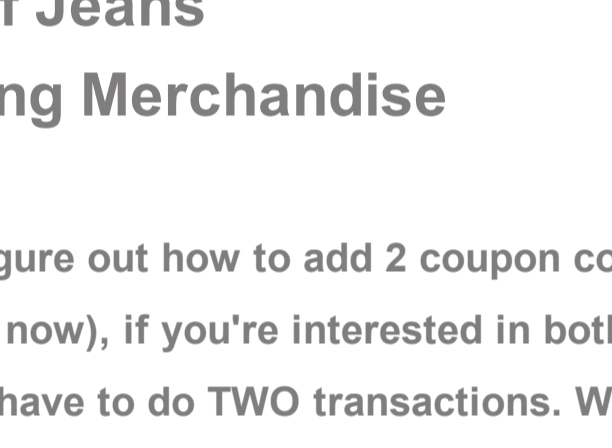

Despite the array of eateries spanning the Shoreline, there has never been much in the way of food delivery in these parts. Nor has there ever been such a need for it. Thanks to the innovative and technology-savvy brains behind the website Shoreline Menus, this new delivery and takeout system is laser-focused on keeping our local small food businesses alive.

The Garden Raffle at Flo Gris

The Florence Griswold Museum is thrilled to announce our first-ever virtual Garden Raffle! The Museum's annual Garden Luncheon is both a joyful celebration of everything blooming and beautiful and a vitally important fundraiser to support the care and upkeep of our beloved historic landscape. While circumstances prevent us from gathering in person this year, anyone can join us in a fun new way—while also supporting partnering area businesses! You could win a custom hat or fascinator, art, custom birdbath or fountain, and much more. Tickets are on sale through June 29, but only a limited number will be sold so act fast! The drawing will take place on June 30 via Facebook Live.

Learn more about the wonderful prizes and purchase tickets below (while they last).
