

I always get excited about preparing our annual issue of farmers' markets and fun on the Shoreline, and this year, even more so! I will NEVER again take for granted filling my bags with fresh fruits and veggies on a Saturday morning and grabbing a farm bouquet, heading out for a riverside concert or a vineyard visit. Our beloved theaters are opening back up, the downtowns are bustling, and it's high time for a buttery lobster roll. Looking forward to the best summer ever.

Enjoy,
Erica

Our Favorite Lobster Rolls

The Connecticut version of the Lobster Roll is sublime: just sweet meat and melted butter. While it's a bit of a no-brainer, some are better than others and we ate a slew of them to find the best.

Katharine Hepburn Museum Goes Virtual

The Katharine Hepburn Cultural Arts Center (the Kate) has launched a virtual museum exhibit, titled Katharine Hepburn: Unintentional Trailblazer, while the Katharine Hepburn Museum, located on the Center's first floor, undergoes an expansion.

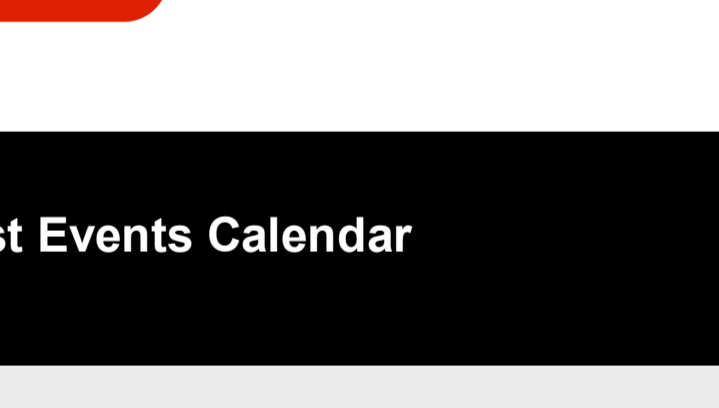

As the only museum of its kind, the Katharine Hepburn Museum offers an authentic view of the rich history and cultural impact of Ms. Hepburn's life and work. The Kate's collection has grown to include costumes and personal wardrobe items, photos from the desk of Howard Hughes, and letters that Ms. Hepburn wrote to her family, among other items. Through Ms. Hepburn's own words, via narration from her autobiography and select letters, the virtual exhibit explores her progressive family and ties to Old Saybrook; her drive and determination to sustain a six decades-long career; and the careful crafting of her public persona and fashion style.

View the free exhibit at www.thekate.org.
