Even though Memorial Day weekend was the ultimate washout, I made the best of it by eating all the foods! I spend a lot of time at The Essex Public Market (so many choices, close to home) but had NEVER indulged in their cheeseburger. I'm prepared to annoy a lot of folks right now by declaring it's one of the best on the Shoreline. Crispy, smashed, skinny Wagyu (!) burger with American cheese, special sauce, pickles on a brioche bun. I've avoided it because it comes with two varieties, but they obliged me request for just one. If you like your burgers thick and rare, this is NOT for you, but fans of In 'N Out will love this one. On Saturday, I ordered up BBQ, a new option at Otto in Chester. The pulled pork and accompanying spicy/sweet sauce and pickled veggies on a Martin's roll (supplied my own) was everything this classic sandwich should be. We finished off every slab of brisket and downed the fresh slaw.

OPEN Now!

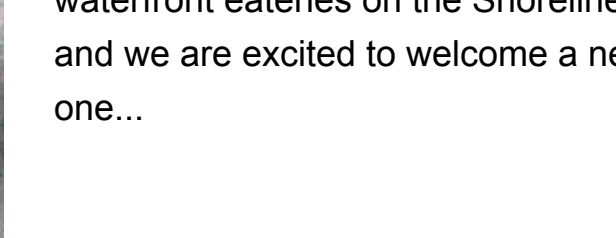

The beans weren't my favorite, so I made my own. Recipe below. Now back to clean eating, but all that deliciousness made up for the storms.

Ocean House Announces the Opening of The Sipping Terrace

The First Outside Tea & Dining Experience Paired with Sipsmith Cocktails, Perfect for a Memorable Summer Outing and Dining Experience

The newest (and most fun, whimsical and posh) pop-up dining experience at the triple Five-Star Ocean House in Watch Hill is the new Sipping Terrace.

The Sipping Terrace features afternoon tea and dinner in a collection of outdoor greenhouses tucked between lemon and lime trees. Serving epicurean delights and Sipsmith cocktails for parties of up to six people, the new Sipping Terrace is perfect for intimate socially distanced soirées with views of spectacular afternoons and sunsets beyond Watch Hill's coast.

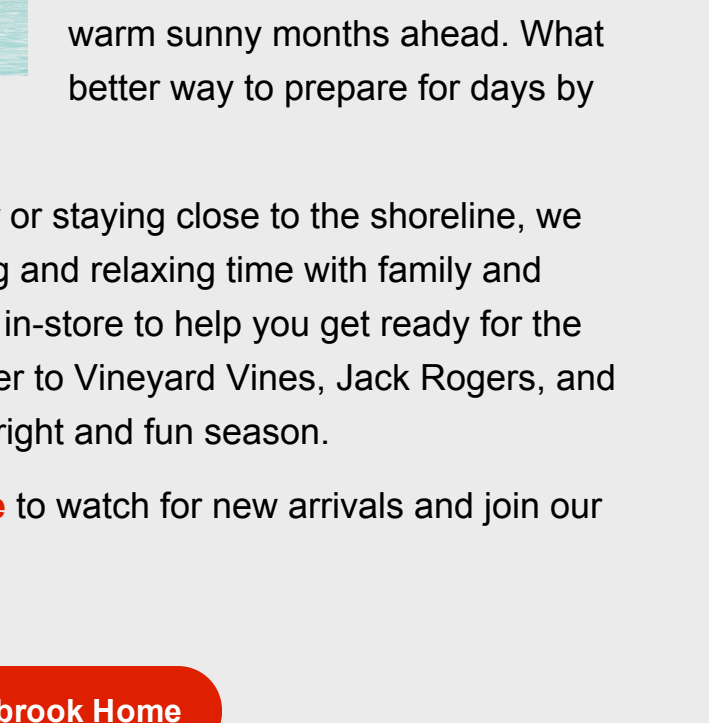

A portion of the proceeds from the Sipping Terrace will be donated to local charities through the Ocean House Fund for Charitable Giving, to help local children and families in need.

Information, menus and reservations are here at www.oceanhouseri.com/sippingterrace or call (877) 270-9601.
