An Excruciatingly Opinionated Guide to the Connecticut Shoreline

FUN CALENDAR EAT DISCOVER TRAVEL TOWN GUIDES

We may not be entirely back to normal, but the holiday season (kicking off with ghouls and goblins roaming the villages last night) feels hopeful. Full-on parties are not in the cards, but at least this year, small group gatherings seem entirely possible. Laura and I put together a groaning grazing table a few years ago, and I might try a tiny version for Thanksgiving, if you're after one of The Herbery's stunning wreaths, now's the time to order. She sells OUT. All this and more on the list this week. Keep an eye out for our Thanksgiving round-up next week!

How To Make a Grazing Table

It's hard to imagine that we pulled together this over-the-top grazing table (and then invited all our friends for a cheese binge), but the idea here could easily be scaled down. And that giant arrangement of greenery arrangement from Mar Floral? It lasted for MONTHS!

Musical Masterworks

December 11 & 12

Brahms, Dvořák and more for a program of glorious piano quintets!

at the First Congregational Church of Old Lyme

CLICK For concert details and to PURCHASE TICKETS

Musical Masterworks is delighted to be back in-person with a cast of esteemed musicians excited to perform on stage! Their 31st season is an artistically momentous one as Musical Masterworks will be celebrating the final year of their beloved Edward Arron in his position as Artistic Director while welcoming the amazing Tessa Lark as Artistic Director Designate.

Their next concert weekend is December 11 and 12 at the First Congregational Church of Old Lyme, when Arron and Lark will welcome back pianist Orion Weiss, violinist Amy Schwartz Moretti and violist Nicholas Cords for a program of glorious piano quintets.

If you've never experienced Musical Masterworks, you're missing out! They offer some of the best chamber music on the shoreline – see for yourself by taking a peek at some of their videos from their virtual season last year.

Grab your tickets to the December performance soon as they sold-out both performances opening weekend in October given reduced seating to allow for social distancing. Proof of vaccination and masks required for all performances.
