An Excruciatingly Opinionated Guide to the Connecticut Shoreline

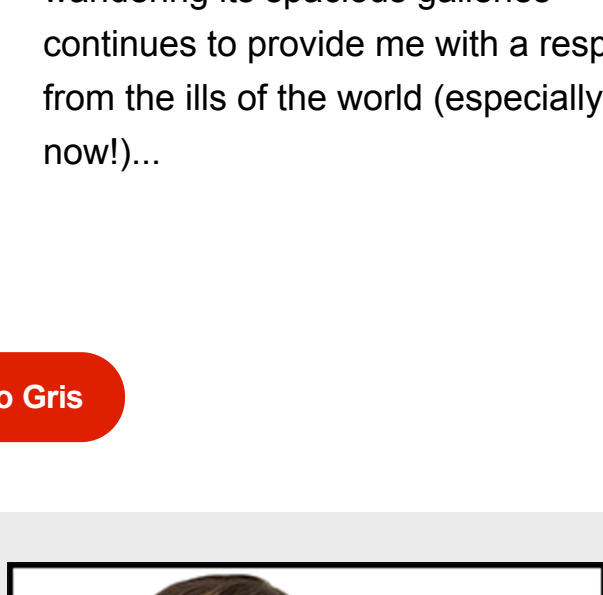

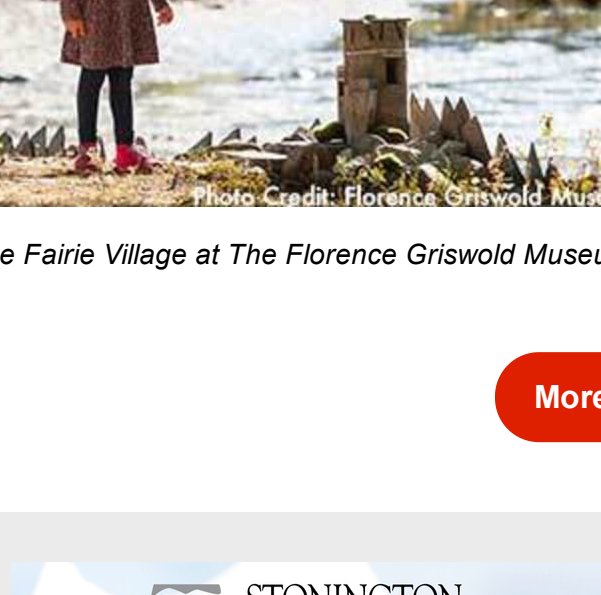

FUN CALENDAR EAT DISCOVER TRAVEL TOWN GUIDES

I was so excited to be able to actually SEE friends this summer that I didn't take advantage of all the seasonal cultural opportunities that exist on the Shoreline. As we move into fall and a more contemplative season, it's a good time to revisit the museums we are so lucky to have in our midst. Many of our local destinations have new exhibits and events planned in September, so I'm offering up a list of what's happening. Make sure to check websites for advance ticketing as many venues are limiting admissions.

Love, Erica

Fall Goings-On at The Florence Griswold Museum

The Florence Griswold Museum was the first place I visited when I moved here 22 years ago, and an afternoon wandering its spacious galleries continues to provide me with a respite from the ills of the world (especially now!)...

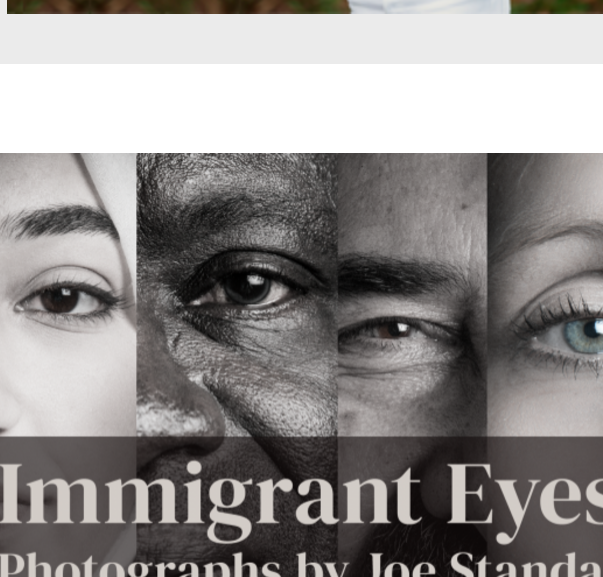

20 Years of Art and Nature at I-Park, East Haddam

I recently had the pleasure and good fortune to walk the grounds and learn the history and inner workings of I-Park Foundation in East Haddam...

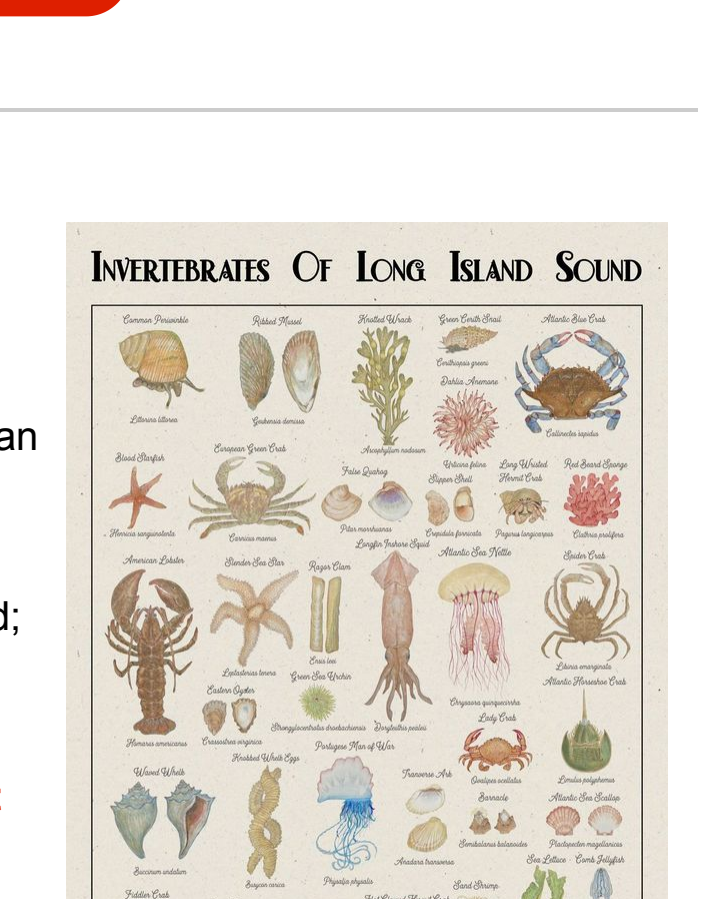

Behind the Scenes at Hill-Stead Museum, Farmington

I hadn't been up to the Hill-Stead Museum in years and recently had the good fortune to have a behind-the-scenes tour with the director, Anna Swinbourne...

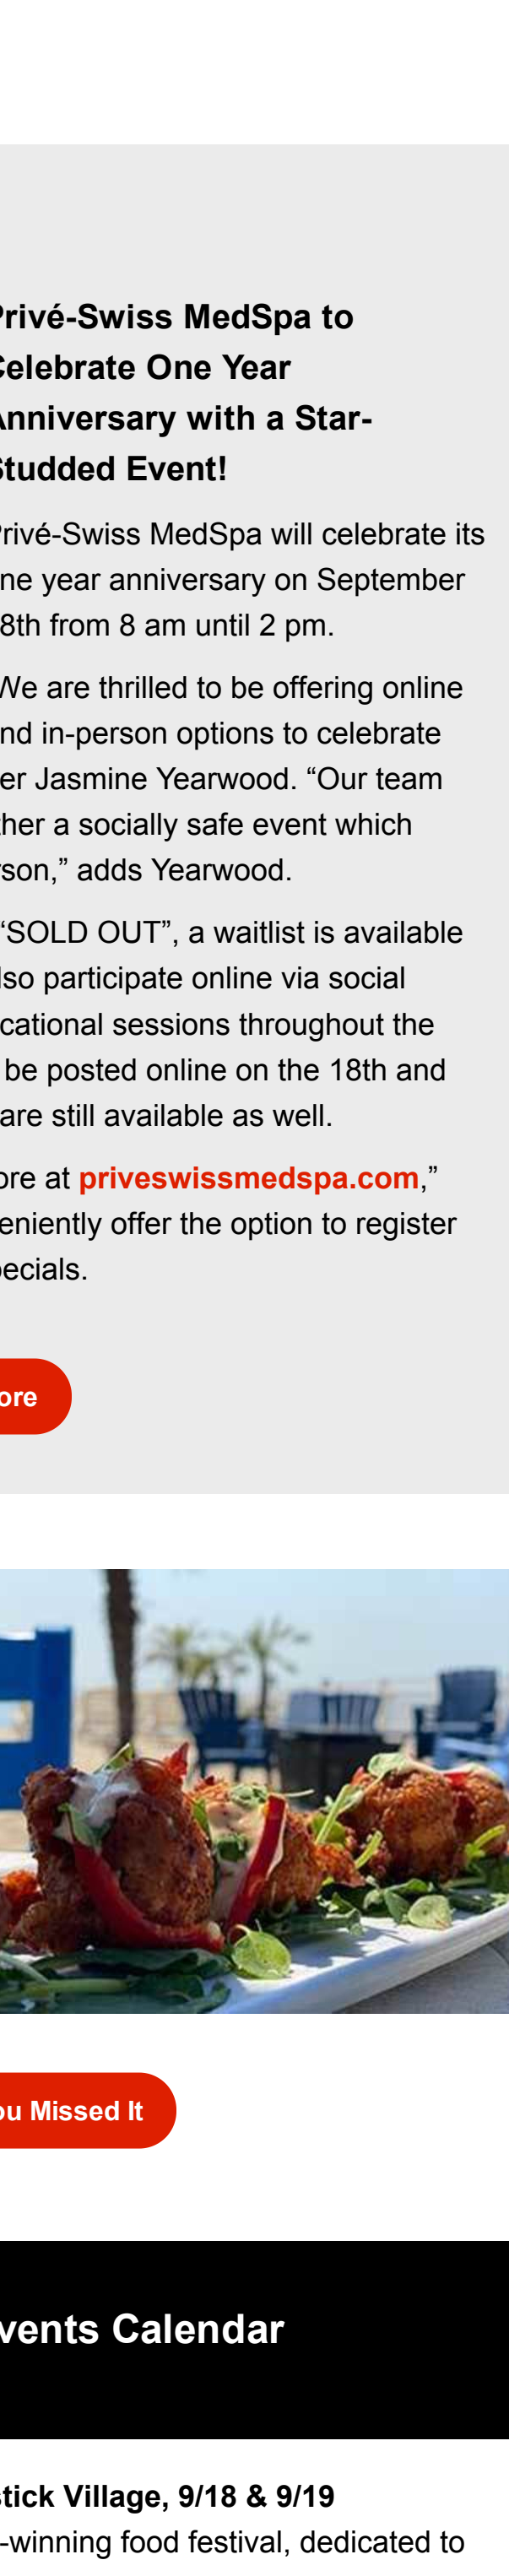

Museums and More Fun

From the Connecticut River Museum to the Lyman Allyn, there are plenty of exciting exhibits to peruse this Fall.

Spotted! Animals of Long Island Sound

Here's a perfect gift for anyone with an affinity for Long Island Sound (or yourself): Hand-drawn (in Taftville) invertebrates a found within The poster; arranged into a vintage-style poster print. Available either as a giclee fine art print or as a UV Poster Print. Get them here.

Privé-Swiss MedSpa to Celebrate One Year Anniversary with a Star-Studded Event!

Privé-Swiss MedSpa will celebrate its one year anniversary on September 18th from 8 am until 2 pm.

"We are thrilled to be offering online and in-person options to celebrate this huge milestone," says MedSpa manager Jasmine Yearwood. "Our team has worked tremendously hard to put together a socially safe event which allows guests to participate online or in-person," adds Yearwood.

Though tickets for the in-person event are "SOLD OUT", a waitlist is available in the event of cancellations. Guests can also participate online via social media to access an array of anti-aging educational sessions throughout the day. Day-of-event anniversary specials will be posted online on the 18th and raffle tickets for more than $5000 in prizes are still available as well.

"Anyone looking to participate can learn more at priveswissmedspa.com," says Yearwood. The website will also conveniently offer the option to register to purchase raffle tickets and event-only specials.
